

Ladies' Day

by Amanda Whittington

Ladies' Day at Royal Ascot is one for the smart set - high heels, high hats and high stakes. But in 2005, this annual high spot of the racing and social calendar headed north - to York.

Funny and dark in equal measure, Amanda Whittington's Ladies' Day follows the fortunes of four female fish packers from Hull who decide to sample a dose of the high life for themselves.

Fuelled by an excess of champagne and boiled egg sarnies, will the girls find the going good - or lose it all in the final furlong?
